The Love We Never Lost

*Some stories don't end....
they just change form...*

1. After Graduation

I had just completed my graduation and was studying Graphic Design.

Baiju

It was a new chapter. Full of dreams, ideas and a little confusion.

2. Surya Studio

My brother had a photo studio in town called Surya Studio. One day, she and her two friends came for a photoshoot.

My brother took their photos, and I did the editing. They were waiting behind me, while I was working.

3. The First Phone Call

Later that day, she called from her home landline.

Hello...
Baiju aano?

That was our first conversation.
And somewhere between those words,
I fell in love with her.

4. The Little Bridge

We met once on a small bridge in our native place. A simple moment...
but it felt like magic.

That day, I knew...
this was different.

5. Smiles Across the Bus

I would see her on the bus sometimes.
And even if it was just a glance,
her smile would make my day.

Some smiles are enough to keep you going.

6. Midnight Visits

When she was alone at home,
I would go to the backyard, at night...
I would hug her and come back with my friend on the bike.

It was risky. But it was worth it.

7. Two Years Later – Bangalore

After two years, she got admission in Nursing at Ebenezer College in Bangalore.

Before she joined, I also went to Bangalore. My plan was to find an IT job there. Because I wanted to be near her.

8. Ebenezer College

She joined the college. A new life,
new friends, new dreams.

EBENEZER
COLLEGE OF NURSING

I was happy for her. And proud.

9. Calls From Friends' Phones

She would call sometimes,
from her friends' phone.
A few minutes, but those calls
meant the world.

Hey... I'm
using Riya's phone.
Just wanted to hear
your voice...

Those little moments
kept us close.

10. "We Should End This"

One day, she called and said...

Baiju...
I think we should end this.

I'm a Christian
and you're a Muslim...
I'm afraid this love
won't last.

She was right...
but it still broke my heart.

11. The Years of Pain

After that, I was in a desperate pain.
I missed her, a lot.

But life moves...
Even when your heart doesn't.

12. Ten Years Later

Ten years passed.
I settled in a good company.

I built a life...
not the one I dreamed of,
but a good one.

13. She Got Married

She got married.
And settled in Dubai.

I heard about it through mutual friends. I felt a little sad...
but also happy for her.

14. Dubai

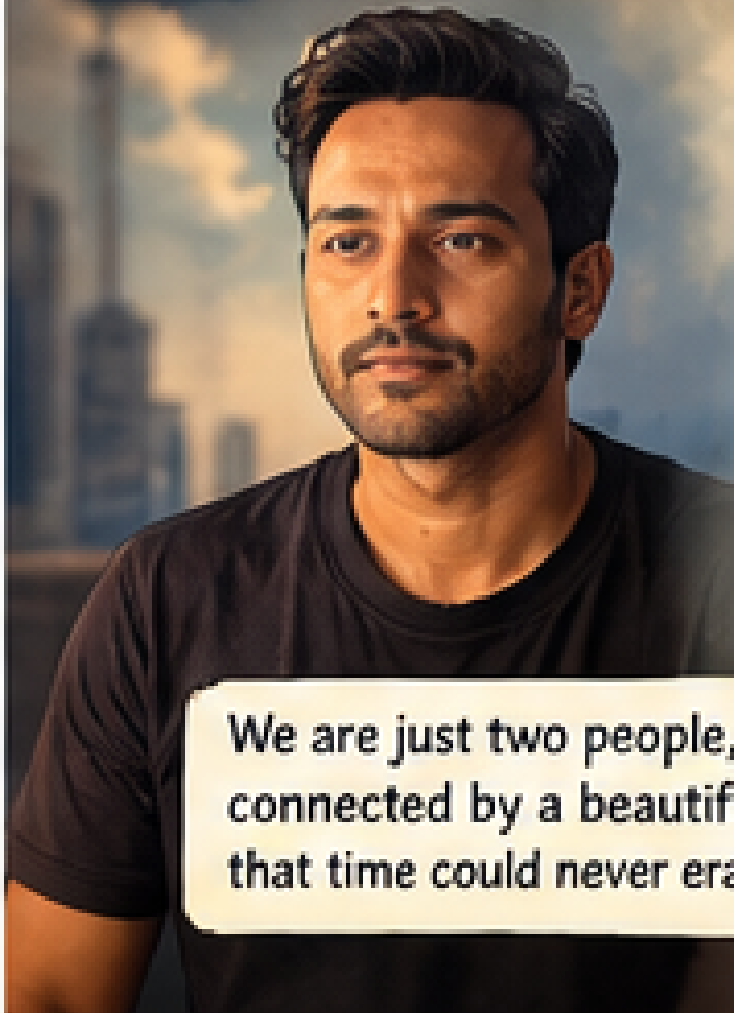

Now she lives in Dubai.
Sometimes she calls.

Hi Baiju...
Just checking
on you. How are you?

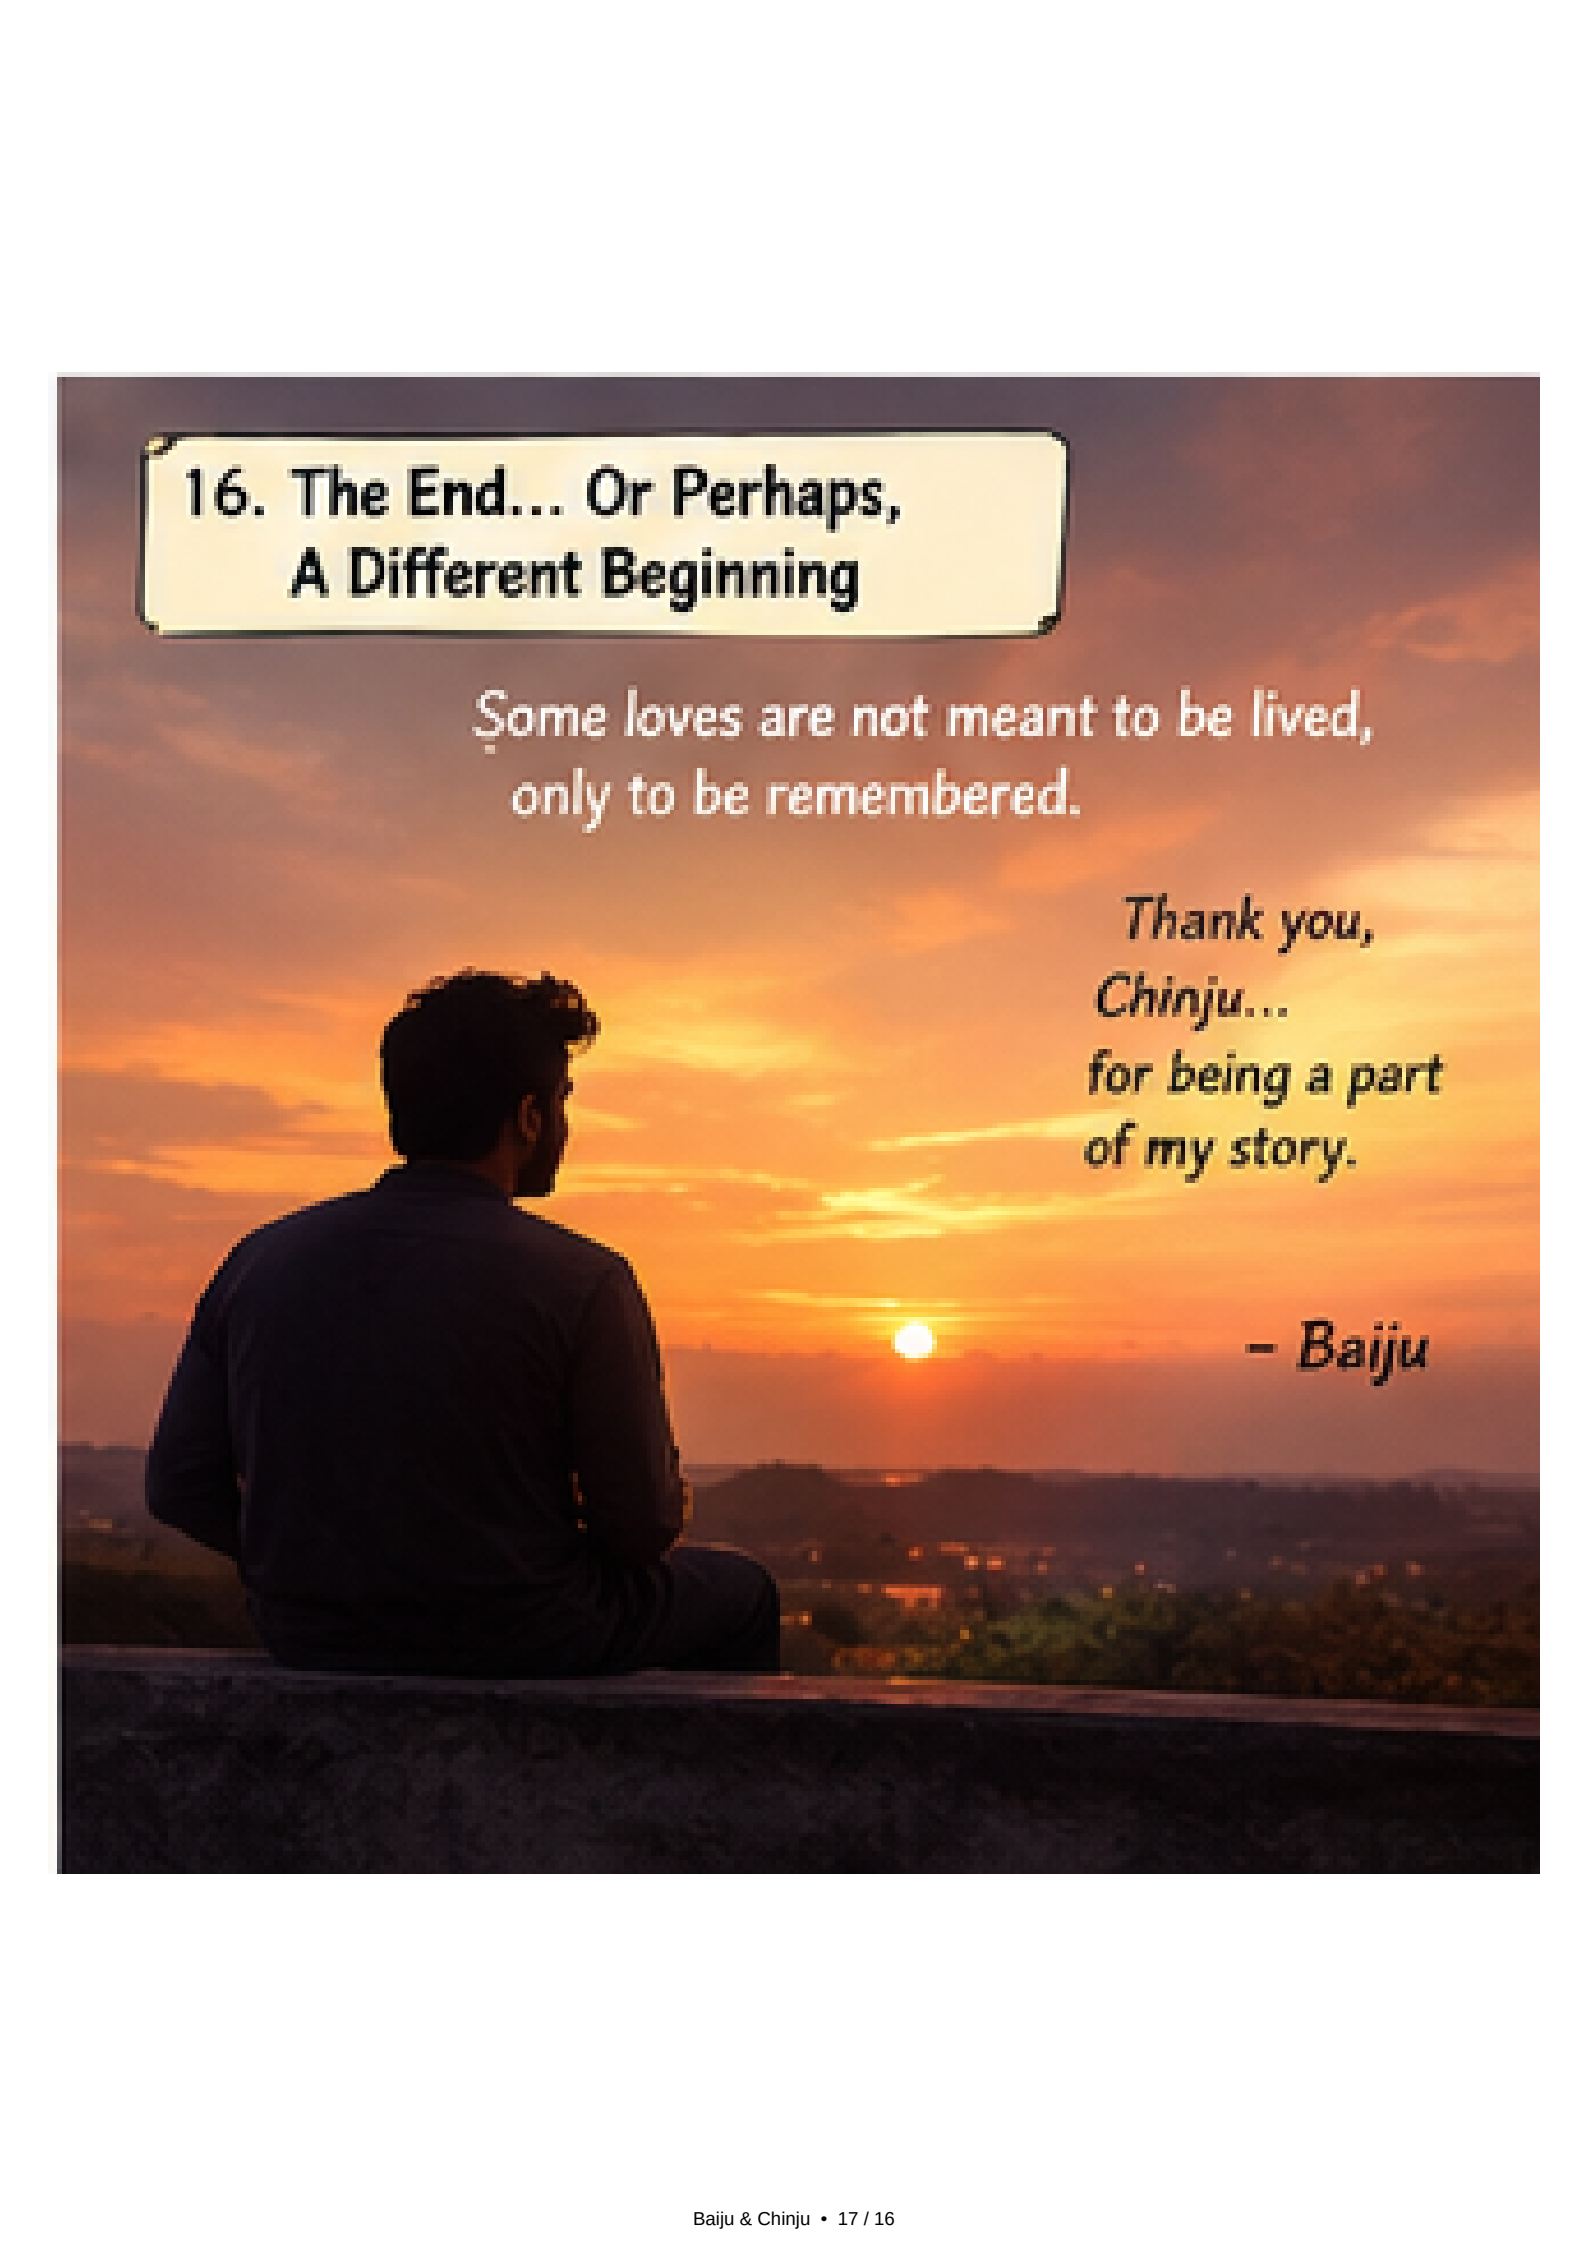

Different countries.
Different lives. Same voice.

15. Two People, One Beautiful Memory

We are not together anymore.
But we are not strangers either.

We are just two people,
connected by a beautiful memory...
that time could never erase.

A man with dark hair and a beard is seen from behind, sitting on a dark, textured ledge. He is looking out over a city at sunset. The sun is a bright orange circle on the horizon, casting a warm glow over the sky and the city below. The sky is filled with soft, orange and yellow clouds. The city lights are visible in the distance, reflecting on the water or a wet surface.

16. The End... Or Perhaps, A Different Beginning

Some loves are not meant to be lived,
only to be remembered.

*Thank you,
Chinju... for being a part of my story.*
